East + West: Ben Norton, Kit Lewers

East: Cecilie Svenningsen, John Wieczorek, David Fichtmueller, Steve Baskauf, John Kunze, Erica Kimmel

West: David Shorthouse, Stan Blum, Greg Whitbread

Regrets: James Macklin

Agenda

- 2025 Agenda/Plans
- WikiData — Steve
- Remote Sensing Data — Kit
 - Thinking about using controlled vocabularies and co-opting with the Remote Sensing community (ESIP, NASA, ESA, NEON, etc.) to think about standards and controlled vocabularies.
- Controlled Vocabularies
 - A case for why this matters to the TAG and TDWG
 - Metadata Scheme Proposals
- Classification Systems
 - Types of Classification Systems
 - Metadata Scheme
- TDWG Glossary
- Recent Developments to StaDocGen

Notes

Re: WGSRPD — Wikidata might serve as a useful broker to redirect to more canonical definitions elsewhere. Most regions are probably defined by groups with a more narrow focus, and the value of the TDWG schema is to gather all these definitions. For example, the "California Floristic Province" is a region within the scope of this group: it has a geospatial footprint but is fundamentally conceptual; it is not a political boundary but is used administratively for biodiversity resource management and conservation funding; the canonical definition is likely a digitized publication; a Wikidata item could reference this canonical source within the scope of WGSRPD.
